Mental health is so important in our developing students. Depression is more than just a bad mood. If you are wondering if you might be experiencing depression, here are 5 things to look for: you feel lower than you have felt before, you feel numb, your body feels different, your thoughts are harsh, your behaviour has changed.

It is important to remember that depression is treatable! Things you can do are ask for help (even though it's hard), don't believe everything you think, and exercise. For more information check out www.healthyteens.ca
